We feel ourselves particularly obliged by your attention in forwarding the last parcel of leather, and you will confer a favor by presenting to Mr. Sturges the best thanks of his old friend Mr. Clementi together with those of our firm, for his care and judgment in selecting it. This species of skin is much superior in our estimation, to that which is manufactured here, for the upper sides of a particular sort of square young boots which we manufacture; and we are therefore tempted to apply again for your friendly aid in procuring us another parcel, with as much dispatch as your leisure may allow. Pray be kind enough to make our excuse to Mr. Sturges for the trouble we give him, and say how much pleasure we should have, if at any time it should be in our power to render him any services in this country — Mr. Clementi presents his most friendly remembrances both to yourself and Mr. Skinner, and we beg on our part to do the same with respects to Mr. Arfara's son, who we hope is in good health - with many excuses for the trouble we give you, and with the highest assurances of our esteem

P.S. We would remark that Mr. Skinner's last selection was of the good thick and silky quality which we most esteem and if the quantity were enlarged to a dozen or two of Skins more, we should be the more obliged
