

77

Handwritten text in a cursive script, appearing to be a letter or document. The text is mirrored across the horizontal fold line, suggesting bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The ink is dark and the handwriting is dense and somewhat illegible due to the cursive style and the mirroring effect.

Continuation of the handwritten text from the upper section, also mirrored across the horizontal fold line. The script remains consistent, and the text continues to be difficult to decipher due to the cursive nature and the bleed-through.

Handwritten signature or initials at the bottom left of the page.

Handwritten text at the bottom right of the page, possibly a date or a closing phrase.

