

Handwritten text, possibly a name or address, partially obscured or faded.

Handwritten text, likely the main body of a letter or document, written in cursive script.

Handwritten text, continuing the main body of the letter or document.

Handwritten text, possibly a signature or a closing section of the letter.

1870

